STATUTES
OF
THE GLOBAL ACTION FUND FOR FUNGAL INFECTIONS
(GAFFI)

I. PREAMBLE

Fungal infection is an internationally neglected health topic. Over 300 million people of all ages in all countries are estimated to suffer from a serious fungal infection each year and over 1,350,000 people are estimated to die (For Scale and scope of the problem, see Annex 1). Like malaria (1,240,000 deaths) and tuberculosis (2,050,000 deaths) many deaths from fungal infection are avoidable. Millions require hospital care for a fungal infection each year, often fruitlessly as fungal infection is not diagnosed or treated. Most serious fungal infections are ‘hidden’, occurring as a consequence of other health problems such as asthma, AIDS, cancer, organ transplant and corticosteroid therapies. Despite major improvements in both diagnostics and treatments over the last 15 years, these have rarely been applied systematically, with major geographical and some technology and clinical practice gaps.
